

MANY THINGS ARE ASKED OF COMING EXTRA SESSION

Much Variety in Legislative Line Is Scrambling For the Recognition of Gov. Thomas E. Campbell

Everything in the legislative line from a dog bill up to votes for women is proposed by the various interests in the state that are scrambling for the governor's recognition for at least one dozen proposed bills to bring before the coming special session of the legislature that the governor intended to limit to a vote on the Susan B. Anthony amendment.

The governor, just prior to his departure recently for Washington on official business, was firm in his attitude against throwing down the bars for the admission of all manner of bills and insisted that he would keep down expenses by limiting the special session to a single issue.

He is reported due back tomorrow, when he will find that in his absence a dozen insistent demands for other issues have sprung up. Several proposed measures relating to road building are reported to have such heavy backing by the voters at large that the governor can hardly turn them down.

Petition for More Salary
Another proposal, with heavy backing, came to light yesterday when it was learned that the state's county employees and school teachers were signing up a monster petition for legislation on salary increases. Details about the new proposal are expected to be forthcoming today, reports at the capitol yesterday indicating that a million dollar raid on the taxpayers was being organized.

Just how the taxpayers will feel about producing another million, on top of all the existing taxation, is yet to be learned, but State School Superintendent C. O. Case takes the attitude that any state ought to close its school rather than ask teachers to work for $550 a year in these times of high living costs. The state superintendent has nothing to say about the reported petition, but he holds unequivocally that Arizona should be above starvation wages.

Among the bills proposed, as announced by P. R. Milnes, secretary to the governor, are the following:

Some of the Proposed Bills
By the citizens of Tempe, legislation creating a road district and a legislative act authorizing the repaving of the Phoenix end of the Tempe-Phoenix road.

By the people of Buckeye, construction of a highway through that vicinity.

By the people of Wickenburg, construction of a bridge over the Hassayampa river.

By traveling salesmen, enactment of an absentee voters' law.

By more than 1,000 signers of communications, repeal of the boxing law.

By residents of Duncan, a direct appropriation for the rebuilding of the Duncan high school, recently destroyed by fire.

It is represented that a direct tax on the people of Duncan would be too heavy.

By the state attorney general, a law authorizing a bond issue to provide funds for paying a bonus to ex-service men in the state.

By citizens of Phoenix, a law permitting state and county engineers to manufacture their own road building material.

By irrigation companies of Buckeye, headed by the Buckeye Irrigation company, an amendment to the existing drainage law so that all district assessments would be made on a drainage basis and not on the ad valorem basis.

By the Arizona Kennel club, and by dog fanciers throughout the state, a measure for making it a felony to kill dogs not committing depredations.

By the United States public health service, a bill embracing public health legislation.

FREE COOKING SCHOOL TO PHOENIX WOMEN

A special course of 12 lessons in making salads, desserts and cakes will be open to the women of Phoenix, Miss Winifred Cooley, domestic science instructor in the high school, announced yesterday that the course would begin the coming week and would be free to the women of the city who care to enroll in the class. There will be no cost of any kind, she said.

The classes will be held on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, and at the hours that best suit the grown-up pupils. On these days of the week Cordelia McLain Perkins will have her classes in interior decoration from 2 to 4 o'clock, and the period given over to this fascinating study will be followed by the class in cooking, or it will be held in the evening at 7 o'clock. It is Miss Cooley's wish to give instructions at the time which will be most convenient to the women, and for this reason she asks that anyone caring to enroll notify the high school office, stating which hour she prefers.

ORANGEWOOD RAMONA CLUB CHANGES NAME; ADOPTS NEW POLICY

Changing its name to the Osborn Woman's club, the Orangewood-Ramona club has made a number of changes in policy, it was announced yesterday. One of the leading social clubs, the organization has outlined a program which will make it a notable factor in both the district and state federation of clubs, with which it is affiliated. At the announcement of the change, 25 women filed application for membership, and it is believed that this is but the beginning of rapid growth of the club.

The meetings, which in the past were held at the homes of the members, will now be held in the district school. Confident that even the large auditorium will soon be outgrown, the club members are to continue a campaign begun some time ago for a club house.

Practically all the members reside in the Osborn district. While many of the former policies will be carried into effect, there will also be many new activities demanded by the larger club. Mrs. H. A. Guild, in addressing the club, sketched the field ahead and the wonderful work that might be expected of a club of the type before which she spoke. The state president's encouraging words had telling effect. The membership unanimously agreed to carry on the work in the spirit designated by the state leader.

PRICE OF LINT COTTON INCREASES FOUR FOLD IN PAST EIGHT YEARS

The price of lint cotton has advanced from 20 to 80 cents a pound in the past eight years in the Salt River valley, according to a report being compiled by the Phoenix chamber of commerce. The average price a pound by years follows: 1912 at 20 cents; 1913 at 20 cents; 1914 at 15 cents; 1916 at 22 cents; 1917 at 43 cents; 1918 at 69 cents; 1919 at 55 cents; 1919 at 80 cents.

Despite the dropping off in alfalfa pasturage from 55,000 to 35,000 acres, practically the same amount in money was received, due to an advance in the price of pasturage. Last year pasturage sold for $39 an acre, and in 1918 pasturage sold at $20 an acre. There was realized from pasturage last year $1,050,000, and from pasturage in 1918 the amount was $1,000,000.

The report will show the assessed valuation of the county to be $109,650,667 and a bonded debt of $5,779,636.43. It will also show the bonded debt of Phoenix as $2,532,000 and the assessed valuation at $33,246,975.

It will show where more than 11,000 passengers came into Phoenix than went out of Phoenix, by rail, during 1919, showing an increase in arrivals of about 40 persons a day for the year.

The report will cover the city and county completely in facts and figures and will also include all important state facts and figures. It will be a ready reference for all seeking information at a glance.

ASHLEY HEADS NEW SHORE LINE STAGE

The newest addition to the stage lines between Phoenix and Globe is the Shore Line Stage company, established lately by E. J. Ashley and associates of this city.

It is the plan of the company to operate cars from Ray Junction and Winkelman to Globe and adjacent points. Connection will be made from Phoenix with Ray Junction and Winkelman by railroad. Their road from those two points into Globe is said to be the best of the several routes. The new line, through its co-operation with the railroad, will cut several hours from the ordinary trip, it is said.
